MINORITY LEADERSHIP

Surprise That Mr. Hay Favors McClelland.

WILLIAMS IS THE MAN

Almost Certain that Mississippian Wi Be Chosen by Democrats-The Big Balls In Front of the Armory Belong to the University,

> The Times-Disputch Bureau. No. 1417 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., September 3d.

Democrats in Washington express surprise that Representative James Hay should have declared for George B. Mc-Clelland, of New York, for the Democleiand, of New York, for the Demo-oratio leadership of the next House over John Bharp Williams, of Mississippi. Mr. Williams was selected for the lead-ership at a conference of Democratic members, held at the last session. It is understood that Mr. Hay was at the is understood that Mr. Hay was at the conference, as he is chairman of the Democratic cateen. It is not known that the name of Mr. McClelland was presented us that of a man suitable to succeed Hon. James D. Richardson as minority leader on the floor. Of course, Mr. Hay has good reason for the views expressed in the recent interview, but they are none the less surprising, especially in view of the fact that the selection of Mr. Williams seems about as sure as the election of Uncle Joe Cannon to the Epeakership, which is as certain as that he Congress will be called to meet in extra session on the 9th of November, which, according to Uncle Joe, is as sure to happen as election day is to come on the preceding Tuesday.

There is good freason for thinking Representative Hay, by the way, will e put on the Appropriations Committee. There will be two Democratic vacancies in the committee, and his apploitment to ne of them is regarded as more than robable. Mr. Hay has been a member of the Milliary Committee for several years nd is now the senior Democratic memer of the committee. He would have to stire from this committee if appointed 5 the Committee on Appropriations, but ould doubtless be willing to do so, as stere is not a more important committee from the committee on Appropriations. But ould doubtless be willing to do so, as stere is not a more important committee from the committee on Appropriations.

Many Richmond people have speculated as to where the large stone spheres set on a pedestal in front of the Regimental Armory at Seventh and Marshall Streets came from. I have seen explanations of the source from which they were received, but I do not think it is generally known that they are the property of the Unithey are the property of the Uni-ty of Virginia. This is the assertion s by Dr. Henry Clay Cameron, emer-professor of Greek in Princeton Uniitus professor of Greek in Princeton University.

"Before the war," said Dr. Cameron, in conversation with The Times-Dispatch correspondent to-day, "Sidney Lee, a brother of General Robert E. Lee, uresented one of these spheres to Princeton University, It is a cannon ball, such as was used by the Turks. He obtained it at Constantinople. He gave two more to the University of Virginia. They never got any further than Richmond, perhaps owing to the difficulty of transporting them to Charlottesville. I was in Richmond in the seventies, and one of these cannon balls was found in the flume leading to the Haxall mills. Many persons did not know what it was, and how it came there was never explained, so far as I know. I do not know that the fact that the projectiles are really the property of the University of Virginia has ever been published."

Then Dr. Cameron, who is a native of Virginia, proceeded to lament the fact that the University of Virginia had allowed the original tombstone which marked the grave of Thomas Jefferson at Monticelle to be removed to the University to the University of Virginia had allowed the grave of Thomas Jefferson at Monticelle to be removed to the University to the University of Virginia had allowed the property of the University of Virginia had allowed the original tombstone which marked the grave of Thomas Jefferson at Monticella to be removed to the University of the Property to the University of the Property to the University of the Property to the University of Themas Jefferson at Monticella to be removed to the University to the Property to the University to the Property to the Property to the University to the Property to the Property to the University to the Property to the Property to the University to the Property to the University to the Property to the University to the Property to the Property to the University to the Property to the Property to the University to the Property to the Property to the Property to th of liquor in the Territory is absolutely prohibited. A gentleman from Talequah, told me a few days ago that whiskey could be obtained with comparative ease, at least, drunkennes was quite common. The work of investigation is in immediate charge of Charles W. Russell, chief of the Insular and Territorial Bureau of the Department of Justice. Indian Territory is divided into four districts for purposes of administration, and in each district there is a United States District Attorney, United States Marshall, numbers of deputies and minor officials, Some of these are charged with having made much money by crooked official dealing.

Meanwhile the charges of corruption of the representatives of the Interior Department have not yet been investigated. The investigation has not even begun, though it its admitted that Secretary Hitchcock has known of the charges since last June. He says he cannot find the right man to put in charge of the investigation which it is his intention to make, or have made. It seems Mr. Know had no trouble in finding san investigation in the seem made. It following a prohibited. A gentleman from Talequah,

It is a fact that wherever investigation has been made this year, following a charge of corruption, it has been prolifie of most sensational disclosures.

It was learned to-day that as a result of the attempt to assassinate President Roosevelt Tuesday night the force of secret service men on duty at Oyster Bay will be increased at once. Heretoforo one detective has been on duty in the daytime and two at night. Hereafter two will guard the President during the day and three at night.

There are one hundred very impatient and highly dissatisfied laborers at the government's propagating gardens in this city to-day. Yesterday was pay-day, but owing to the absence of Colonel Symons, superintendent of public buildings and grounds, no money was forthcoming, and as he was not back to-day the men are still without their pay. The wages run from fifty cents to $2 per diem, and in the majority of cases is all the families of the men have to depend upon for support. The money to pay the men can be drawn only by check from Colonel Eymons.

The two police court judges of Washington have not exactly struck, but in the estimates of expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 20th, 1905, they allow themselves a galary increase from $3,000

GOLDEN TEXT: There is a way which seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death.—Prov. xiv, 12. SUBJECT: "Death of Saul and Jonathan."-I. Sam. xxxi, 1-13.

David retired to Gath, where he found or Ziph after his deliverance from Saul, althoughtrus to his pledge, declined more and more from the service of God and resorted to various expedients to prevent his utter downfall. Among these was a visit to the witch of Endor from whom he loarned of his fate. Thereafter the Amalokites and tro Philistines learning the deplorable condition of the land, broke forth in war and overran large sections. Then came opportunity for the service of David, who attacked and routed the former of these tribes and brought deliverance to distressed people. While these spiendid successes were achieved, Saul attacked the marauding Philistines, who, appeared in force and who had long been the chief enemy of israel. These warlike people, residing in the southeast of Canaan, advanced in a north-easterly direction to meet Saul and his army. The sequel appears in the lesson of the day.

casterly direction to meet Saul and his army. The sequel appears in the lesson of the day.

DEFEAT—(Verse I). Sauls army could not resist the progress of the Phillistines. The ancient valor that had shed such luster on Joshua and Gideon was gone. The heroic and God-fearing leadership of the days gone was wanting. Routed from one position they retreated to another. Thus they crossed the territory of Benjamin, of Dan, and of Ephriam and penetrated into the land of Manasseh, the victorious foe pressing constantly upon their rear. It seemed as if Israel would be utterly subjugated, its military power broken and the land returned to its original owners. At last, near Gilboa, in the eastern end of the plain of Endracion, famed for many exploits in war, a stand was made. The purpose was to check the invaders and by one desperate struggle to turn them hackward from their enward march. But the battle, a fierce engagement, went against the Israelites, many of whom were slain and others of them face a scattered and demoralized force was not to be rallied again.

SLAUGHTER.—(verses 2 and 3). There was terrible loss of life that day. The dead and the wounded left on the field told how great had been the sangulnary struggle. Israel had staked all and lost all. Not only the rank and file, the common soldiery, but the officers and the king himself had fallen. There was Jonathan, the true friend of David, (I Sam. xvilli) slain, dead, sacrificed by liss father's folly. There also were his two brothers, Adinadab and Milchishua, stricken down by the foe. Thus in one day all the heirs to the throne, the objects or a father's love, upon which his hopes were fixed, were gone, And the bereaved king himself was mortally wounded. The archers had singled him out and had sent their dagath-dealing arrows with sure alm to do their work. Few cases have been recorded in history when an army has been routed, its commander attacked and those near to him have fallen. The battle of Gilboa must be remembered as an incomparable defeat

SUICIDE—(Ver

POSSESSION—Saul's army was in two prisat—those who belonged to tribes west of the Jordan, and those of the tribes east of the Jordan, and those of the Jordan, in the time of the conquest (Josh., 1: 16). In the battle of Gilbon, probably the fight-ing had bee ndone chiefly by the western men, the others being held as a reserve force. When it was observed that the Philistines were victorious, and that Saul and his sons were dead the eastern men fied, crossed the Jordan and returned home. That left the country in full and undisturbed possession of the Philistines, the army having been annihilated, and no one remaining to dispute their occupation. Even some of the people who had not been in the conflict joined the fugitives and crossed the Jordan with them. Thus, by this decisive engagement, the monarchy of Saul was overthrown, the government of Israel lay in ruins, the old enemy had come up linto the cities in the very heart of the land. Never was a conquest more complete. It was from such a depth that David came forward shortly, after to deliver his people and re-establish the kingdom.

Debris Were Sold Yesterday.

The immense pile of white and red bricks which were taken from the Jefferson Hotel debris after the fire were sold yesterday at public auction to Sitterding-Carneal-Davis Company through George W. Mayo's auction house. Quite a number of builders and others interested were in attendance upon the sale, which took place yesterday afternoon at 6 o'clock. The entire pile of 430,000 bricks was knocked down to the purchasers at 42 a thousand. The sale, therefore, involves the sum of $550, which the purchasers will pay to the owners of the Jefferson. The fact that the hotel management is selling these bricks, all of them, too, is taken by many to mean that the Main-Sireet end will no the robuilt, for the present at least as many of the bricks would be as good as any other inside wall work and the price obtained for them, is not considered a specially good one. The owners of the property have been summoned to appear before the Police Court in the next few days and show cause why the old buildings should not be torn down, and it is quite likely that the unsightly old row will be a thing of history in a month.
